

Ordination to Deacon of Br. Angelo
on Sunday 30th November 2014.
Ordaining Bishop, The Rt Rev Leonie Newman

The Following Collect, Epistle & Gospel will be read during the Ordination today to Deacon of Br. Angelo, in the personal Chapel of the Presiding Archbishop of The Australian Church of Antioch, the Most Reverend Frank Bugge.

The Collect.

Almighty and everlasting God by whose Spirit the whole body of The Church is made Holy and governed, do pour forth Thy Sanctifying Grace into the heart/s of this Thy servant, who is to be numbered among The Deacons of Thy Church, that with pure heart and open mind s/he may faithfully receive The gift of The Holy Spirit, through The Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Epistle is taken from the writings of the occult teacher Morandi.

We each have latent within us the talents that are needed for this life on earth. How we use these talents, will be taken into account, when we come to the final judgement of this term, on this planet earth. No matter what talent is imbedded in the personality, it is possible to use it wisely, and for the good of assisting others in need. There are many and diverse ways of assisting humanity, and one great path is the service to humanity via the teaching of God's ancient wisdom. At diverse times we meet some who are prepared to take a giant step in the service to others by the giving of themselves to these good works. To them I say Blessed are you my Brethren for you shall be regarded highly, and counted as The salt of the earth.

Here Endeth The Epistle.

The Gospel is from the words of Bishop Mandroy.

We of the Clergy are like school masters. We endeavour to impart knowledge to the pupil, but some will accept this, and some will not. Unlike a school master we must not force knowledge of the ancient wisdom upon those who do not wish to accept it. To these people just give them silent blessing and go on your way. To those who do wish to receive, give help freely as you were given freely. We do not own the knowledge, so it is not ours to keep. We are simply guardians of the knowledge, so do not be frightened to give it away, but as The Master Jesus said do not cast your pearls before swine.

Praise Be to Thee O Christ.
